

Vermont Virtual Learning Cooperative 2022-2023 Student Scholarships

The Vermont Virtual Learning Cooperative will award a limited number of need-based* scholarships for the Marine Biology Bermuda trip. If you receive a scholarship, the amount awarded will be reflected in the final payments. Students must maintain a minimum of 85% average and provide evidence of financial need.

Marine Biology Program Scholarship

Consideration for scholarship assistance requests will be based on the following criteria:

- Remained on pace with segment one of Marine Biology
- Current average of 85% or higher in segment one of Marine Biology
- The impact of the program and trip on your future goals as outlined in your essay
- Special circumstances or financial burdens (as outlined on page 3)
- Amount requested to make the trip affordable for your family

To apply for this scholarship, a student must:

- Complete the VTVLC Student Scholarship Application Form (Pages 2 & 3)
- Write a brief essay (no more than one page) describing the impact the program would have on your educational and future plans and how your experience with Marine Biology will influence those plans.
- Submit all forms and letters to VTVLC office by Tuesday, January 17th, 2022.
- Or to Marsha Dawkins at Mdawkins@vtvlc.org

*Qualifying students must provide evidence of financial need.
